FamilyKind Service Award

Join us for a lively cocktail event and awards presentation bringing together the region's most distinguished matrimonial and family law professionals — including lawyers, mediators, judges, financial services professionals, mental health providers, educators, and more — as well as families who believe in FamilyKind's work to center the needs of children and reduce conflict.

Over the last decade, FamilyKind has helped thousands of families access parenting education and specialized services — including 1:1 parenting coordination and mediation — regardless of ability to pay.

Executive Director, FamilyKind

FamilyKind was founded in 2012 by attorneys, mental health providers, and other professionals committed to addressing the absence of affordable, high-quality professional services for low- to middle-income couples separating or divorcing, with a focus on helping parents center the needs of their children.

FamilyKind's services include divorce and co-parenting mediation, parenting coordination, parenting and anger management classes, and other support programs for children and adults, including for adult children of divorce. Services are provided on a sliding fee scale and are offered virtually and in-person. While FamilyKind traditionally serves couples and families in the greater New York area, FamilyKind's programs and resources now reach a global audience.
